THE PORTSMOUTH ATHENAEUM

Minutes of the 2022 Annual Meeting

Sunday, January 15, 2023, at 3:00 pm

1. Call to Order: President Sally Gayer called the 204th meeting of the Proprietors of the Portsmouth Athenaeum to order at 3:00 pm. She asked if there were any corrections to the minutes of the 203rd annual meeting. Hearing none, Peter Rice moved the minutes be approved and the motion carried unanimously.
2. Necrology: Brad Lown read the names of the Proprietors and former Proprietors who died in 2022. A moment of silence was held to honor those we lost during the year.
3. Finances:

Report of the Treasurer: Treasurer Jeff Keefe presented the financial summary for 2022, noting that net income was 31% over budget for the year. We brought in $542,650, versus a budget of $483,653, and spent $422,404 against a budget of $514,910, leaving a net income of $120,246.
4. Report of the Investment Committee: Treasurer Jeff Keefe reported that the Athenaeum investment portfolio had a tough year, down from a beginning value of $2.126M to a year end value of $1,817,438M. The portfolio did out perform the benchmarks, down 12.94%, when the Barclay's Bond Index was -14% and the S&P -2-%. Going forward, the current allocation of the investment portfolio is 41% equities, 59% cash and fixed income. Jeff thanked his fellow committee members, Steve Desmarais, Gail Drobynyk, and Lorne Buxton for their time and effort over the year.
5. Approval of the 2023 Assessment: Nancy Starks-Cheney made a motion to approve the 2023 Assessment, which will remain unchanged at $250; Richard Candee seconded; motion passed.
6. Report of the Keeper: Keeper and Executive Director Tom Hardiman addressed the membership with thanks for the leadership of Sally, the board, and the staff to make 2022 a remarkably successful year. He noted that despite the downturn in the invested funds, the Athenaeum finished with an operating surplus, the latest of many in recent years. He cited numerous bold actions the Athenaeum had undertaken in the past, including the purchase of 9 Market Square in 1805 and the purchase of the Foye building in 1981 with a mortgage of 18 ½ %. He said we should not shy away from bold moves now: "Starting today, I don't want to hear any more about what the Athenaeum can't do, because for more than half of Portsmouth's recorded history the Athenaeum has taken on improbable, even quixotic quests and succeeded. It shouldn't be hard."
7. Report of the President: President Sally Gayer addressed the membership noting the good work done by the board over the past year to address the organization's most urgent need: storage space for our rapidly growing collections. She recounted the scope of the problem and efforts to mitigate the issue to date. She outlined the primary issues:

- Immediate need for off-site storage vs. its cost;
- Need for the care and preservation of our valuable collection;
- Growth and future need;
- The critical role that research plays in our mission;
- The need for a 5-10 year plan;
- Possible changes in the use of our present space;
- Defining what we keep and what we don't need to keep; and
- Need for a period of stability to allow time to discuss these issues as we move forward.

She remarked that the space available at 170 State Street will give us the breathing room to do more detailed planning for our future. She thanked Brad Lown and Mike Chubrich for months of hard work negotiating the terms of the lease for the space.

8. Report of the Nominating Committee: Committee Chair Maryellen Burke presented the following slate of 2022 Officers and Directors:

President (to 2024)	2 year term	Sally Gayer
Vice President (to 2024)	2 year term	Margaret F. Hodges
Secretary (to 2024)	1 year term	Richard G. Adams
Treasurer (to 2024)	1 year term	Jeffrey W. Keefe
For Director (to 2026)	3 year term	Christine Friese
For Director (to 2026)	3 year term	Alan Gold
For Director (to 2026)	3 year term	Don Margeson

Maryellen thanked Don Margeson and Ronan Donohoe for their service on the nominating committee. Richard Candee made a motion to accept the slate of 2023 nominees, seconded by Andrew Bagley; the motion passed unanimously. President Sally Gayer offered thanks to outgoing board members Ed Caylor, Jan Dinan, and Mark McNabb.

9. Other Business: Michael Chubrich made a motion that the Proprietors vote on whether to sign a lease for offsite storage at 170 State Street if it is not tax exempt. Richard Candee seconded. Andrew Bagley said he didn't think the Proprietors should tie the board's hands in this matter. Curt Springer asked if it could be phrased as a non-binding suggestion. Mike restated his motion as: the lease to 170 State Street be presented to the City within 21 days to determine if it is tax exempt and the board may proceed regardless of the outcome. Two Proprietors in the room and two on Zoom voted in favor; 25 in the room and 13 on Zoom voted against. 23 abstained.

10. Adjournment: There being no further business, Richard Grossman made a motion to adjourn, seconded by Richard Candee. The motion passed. The meeting was adjourned at 3:40 pm.

Respectfully submitted,
Richard G. Adams

Vision, Mission and Core Values
January 14, 2024
Annual Meeting

Vision:

The Portsmouth Athenaeum is a welcoming collaborative of curious minds dedicated to enriching the lives of its members and the broader community through spirited dialogue and cultural engagement.

Mission:

The Portsmouth Athenaeum is a membership library that welcomes all who seek knowledge to experience culture and share in the history of the Piscataqua region so that together we may find meaning in the past to illuminate the present and the future.

Core Values:

Discourse: Encourage convivial interchange among members and the wider community.

Learning: Challenge ourselves to strive for excellence and to continued learning.

Preservation: Treasure, preserve and share history of the Seacoast.

Service: Be of value to our members and the wider community.

Stewardship: Honor our membership and institution by being financially and ethically responsible.

Region. After nearly a decade of working for independent historic house museums in Portsmouth and as a Regional Manager for Maine and New Hampshire for Historic New England (formerly SPNEA), Farish returned to school at the Savannah College of Art and Design. She received a Master of Arts in Historic Preservation. Returning to Portsmouth, she accepted the position of Chief Curator at Strawberry Banke Museum. Farish serves on the board of the Piscataqua Decorative Arts Society and the Association of New Hampshire Historical Societies.

Michael LaBrie-

Michael LaBrie likes to say that he was born in City Hall (the former Portsmouth Hospital.) He was graduated from PHS in 1980 and from Saint Anselm College in 1985 with degrees in Political Science, French and Soviet Studies.

Michael has worked as a professional photographer through high school to the present. He is a self taught artist in graphic and fine arts, a gallerist and a dealer in fine art, as well as an avid collector. He is involved in commercial real estate ownership, development and management, since the early 90s, as a partner in The Labrie Group of hospitality properties, including Jimmy's Jazz & Blues Club, The River House, and The Atlantic Grill. He enjoys the renovation and repurposing of historic properties.

Report of the Art and Artifacts Collection Committee 2023

This was again a quiet year for the Art and Artifacts Collection Committee. Most of our committee work was done by email, with only one in-person meeting, but members were quick to respond to any emailed questions. Most of the work was centered on the care of the collection, which, of course, is a never-ending project. We also continued to monitor the temperature and humidity in the buildings to aid in the environmental care of the collections.

With the help of a grant from the Thaxter Foundation we were able to clean and repair the portrait of John Haven. It is a fine late-nineteenth-century copy of the original painting by Gilbert Stuart. In 2024 we hope to have a new frame for it.

In August we loaned three of our South Pacific artifacts given by John Collings Long to the New Bedford Whaling Museum for an exhibit, which will end in September of this year. We also lent a print of Daniel Webster and a bowl painted by Celia Thaxter to the Portsmouth Historical Society for their summer exhibits.

We acquired several objects in 2023:

- Drawing of B.P. Shillaber – Athenaeum Purchase
- Watercolor portrait of Bruce Ingmire - Gift, Lance Ingmire
- Walking Stick of Daniel Marcy - Gift, H.B. Gordon
- Keys from the Naval Prison – Gift, Caryl Sawtelle
- Plaque of the HMS Minerva – Gift, Portsmouth 400th Committee
- Various Fire Parades ribbons and badges, a Kearsarge souvenir pin, a tally (hatband) of the USS Bonita, and two US Navy cap badges – Gift, Gayle Sawtelle
- Three prints of Portsmouth – Gift, Gayle Sawtelle
- Two fire buckets belonging to Alfred Woodward Haven – Gift, Henrietta Trantum

The portrait of Bruce Ingmire is hanging in the Reference Library, and Daniel Marcy's walking stick is on exhibit in the case in the Old Library.

The members of the committee are Elizabeth Aykroyd, Douglas Aykroyd, Alan Bennett, Pat Breslin, Judy Groppa, Cathy Hodson, Rebecca Mitchell, Tara Vose Raiselis, Steve Roberts, Carolyn Roy, Sandra Rux, Elaine Tefft, Hilda Versluys, and Tom Hardiman, Keeper.

Report of the Exhibits Committee 2023

The Randall Gallery hosted three exhibitions this past year. The first, entitled The Wentworth Takeover: How One Family Dominated Portsmouth and New Hampshire 1715-1775, opened on April 14, 2023. This exhibition was chosen to coincide with the celebration of the 400th anniversary of the founding of Portsmouth. Sandra Rux was the curator and she spent five years doing the research on Lieutenant Governor John Wentworth, his wife and fourteen children. Sandra gave a gallery tour on April 15th and an evening lecture on June 21st, entitled Before Live Free or Die: The Wentworth Oligarchy 1715-1775. John Rule gave a gallery talk on June 24th entitled Benning Wentworth's Towns in Vermont and New Hampshire. The exhibition closed on July 15th and the major explanatory panels were lent to the Wentworth-Coolidge Visitors' Center for the summer season.

The second exhibition of the year opened on August 4th. James Smith, the Athenaeum's Photographic Collections Manager, curated the exhibition entitled Peace, Love & Portsmouth: Celebrating the City's Cultural Renaissance through the Lens of J.D. Lincoln. James wanted everyone to see the exhibition as a celebration, of Portsmouth and of Lincoln's photographs of the 1970s. Lincoln's photographs during that important decade captured the changes taking place in Portsmouth, which led to the Portsmouth of today. Cultural events were established, such as the Prescott Park Arts Festival, Market Square Day and restaurants like the Blue Strawberry opened. Hundreds of Lincoln's negatives and images were scanned to create the multimedia exhibit. Lincoln's photographs and negatives were donated to the Athenaeum through the efforts of Peter E. Randall, who published Lincoln's People of Portsmouth. The exhibition closed in November.

The final exhibition of the year was the Proprietors' Art Show, an annual exhibition that opens at the Athenaeum's Christmas Party, held this year on December 8th. It will close at the Annual Meeting in January. This year the show included paintings, photographs, sculpture, fiber works, furniture, as well as books and articles written by our members. Our thanks to Joan and Frank Graf for hanging the show, and Nancy Hammond for doing the labels. Thanks to Librarian Robin Silva for organizing the books and articles for the exhibition, as well as for her support throughout the year as we research topics for exhibitions.

Our thanks to Stephanie Hewson, Volunteer and Outreach Coordinator, for organizing the Gallery Sitters for each exhibition.

Committee Members: Ceal Anderson, Elizabeth Aykroyd, Linda Cheatham, Ronan Donahoe, Lauren Gallant, Joan Graf, Elaine Tefft, Sherry Wood, Sooky Lassen, Ellen Fineberg, John Mayer, Barbara van Buskirk, Mary-Jo Monusky, Mara Witzling, Tom Hardiman, Keeper. We have several new members joining the committee in 2024.

Report of the Performance Committee 2023

The mission of the Performance Committee of the Athenaeum is to provide musical concerts of outstanding quality for its members and the wider public. This year our program achieved a new level and an impressive degree of community outreach. We are pleased to thank all those friends of the Athenaeum whose contributions supported this outstanding season.

ArtsAthenaeum Concerts

We began the season with a new partnership between the Portsmouth Athenaeum and the Handel + Haydn Society of Boston. On 27 April at St. John's Church a quartet of their star players presented a concert of music by Bach, Handel and Vivaldi to an enthusiastic audience of 150. This was by far the largest audience we have ever welcomed to an Athenaeum concert. We hope to repeat this highly successful venture in the future.

As has become customary, we continued our season with a Memorial Concert for proprietors of the Athenaeum who had died during 2022. The event took place on 12 May in the intimate setting of the Sawtelle Room at the Athenaeum itself. Dr. William Wieting read the life stories and Michael Blair, tenor and Jim Prendergast, guitar, provided appropriately elegiac musical tributes.

The final ArtsAthenaeum event of the year was a Holiday concert at South Church given by the Portsmouth Brass Quintet. This was billed as a gift from the Athenaeum to the Portsmouth community. The event was suitably high spirited and joyful, as befitted the season. Over 100 members of the public attended, an increase on last year, and the audience included many young families who were introduced to the Athenaeum for the first time.

Financially, the three concerts were a great success. Members of the Athenaeum and of the general public contributed over $7,000 in gifts to underwrite the costs of these concerts, well in excess of the expenses of $5,662. Thus, at the end of the year we were able to contribute $1,352 to the Athenaeum's budget. Furthermore, for the first time ever we did not need to draw on the annual subvention of $5,000 that the Athenaeum has provided for these concerts.

Portsmouth Athenaeum Chamber Music Series (PACM)

Thanks to the support of 55 generous patrons, numerous subscribers and the broader public, we organized four concerts this year. They were:

August 27 Balourdet Quartet, Kittery Dance Hall
September 24 Noree Chamber Soloists, St. John's Church
October 8 RASA String Quartet, St John's Church
October 29 ASMI Trio, St. John's Church

The musicians came mainly from Boston and New York and the quality of their playing was spellbinding. Our enthusiastic and engaged audiences, averaging 70-80 per concert, deeply appreciated these performances. Patrons had an opportunity to meet the musicians at a reception afterwards held at the Athenaeum.

The concert series once again was a significant financial success. The total income received was $18,267, well in excess of expenses of $15,492. Thus, after all accounts were settled, we transferred an end-of year surplus of $2,774 to the Athenaeum.

Taken together, the two concert series have thus contributed a total of $4,126 to the Athenaeum's finances.

The Work of the Committee

The Performance Committee has met nearly every month throughout the year to organize these concerts. We decided to expand our numbers to enable us to mount the growing number of concerts presented each year, and to address the increasing paperwork requested by the venues that agree to host us. Thus, we welcomed Susan Noerdlinger, John Moore and Dan Pettengill to the committee while saying farewell to Linda Posson who has stepped down. The other members of the committee were President Sally Gayer, Kristin Goodwillie, Sharon Griffin, Bruce MacIntyre, Andrew Moore, Alice and Chris White, Dr. William Wieting, and Sooky Lassen and Keeper Tom Hardiman both ex officio. The committee members work in a spirit of harmony and goodwill to accomplish the myriad tasks that the comprehensive program outlined here requires. In so doing, we aim to enrich the lives of Athenaeum members and friends and to contribute significantly to the cultural life of Portsmouth and the Seacoast.

Respectfully submitted.

Report of the Publications Committee 2023

Committee members: Dick Adams, Douglas Aykroyd, Donald Margeson, Peggy Hodges, Kimberly Alexander and Sherry Wood.

The Athenaeum newsletter, edited by committee Chairman Sherry Wood, enjoyed strong participation and readership levels in 2023. A total of 16 authors penned 34 articles and contributed 26 images to enliven its pages. Designer Tom Lynch pulled it all together with creative and eye-pleasing packaging.

Thanks go to: Dick Adams, Douglas Aykroyd, Elizabeth Aykroyd, Irene Bush, Sally Gayer, Judy Groppa, Tom Hardiman, Stephanie Hewson, Peggy Hodges, Tom Lynch, Ben Menard, Don Margeson, Linda Posson, Robin Silva, James Smith, Chris White and Sherry Wood.

There were also 12 monthly At the Athenaeum columns in the Portsmouth Herald, ranging in subject from memories of Portsmouth's The Acres neighborhood to the city's first Market Square Day, an exhibit on Portsmouth's metamorphosis in the 1970s, and the Athenaeum's breathtaking architecture and 1861 renovation. Those authors include Dick Adams, Roland Goodbody, Tom Hardiman and Sherry Wood.

The impact of all of these articles was greatly enhanced by Athenaeum Photographic Collections Manager James Smith's assistance in curating and supplying images.

Newsletter deadlines are March 15, June 15, and Oct. 1. Contributions and queries may be directed to Sherry Wood at sixswords@aol.com.

Respectfully submitted,
Publications Committee Chairman Sherry Wood

Special Collections Report for 2023.

The key public purpose of the Athenaeum is to collect, protect, and make available to the public original materials documenting the history of Portsmouth. We encourage institutional deposits; accept gifts of family papers, photographs, and ephemera to that end.

As such material has often left this area, we follow the market and purchase such materials when we can afford to bring them back home to this area. The committee is indebted to J. Dennis Robinson, Kinley Gregg, and Tom Hardiman for following websites for finding, buying, donating, or transcribing or translating such manuscripts.

We are also indebted to the excellent staff that find, catalog, process, and digitize images of the collection for the Athenaeum online catalog. James Smith has been outstanding in his continuing work to put large numbers of the huge Douglas Armsden photograph collections (and many others) on line for digital access.

While Special Collections does not include the general library collection, we owe an equally large debt to Librarian Robin Silva. The depth and usefulness of our digital catalog is unequalled by many other larger (and better funded) research libraries, and is a result of Robin's skill, hard work and wisdom!

Archivists Susan Kindstedt and Katy Sternberger have processed some 27 gifts to the manuscript collections this past year. The largest and most significant was from Gayle Sawtelle, eight major additions to the Sawtelle family's gifts of seafaring papers and other maritime materials of local importance made several years ago. Kinley Gregg has also continued to buy, donate, and transcribe a number of useful mid-19th century letters to or from several Portsmouth families and local characters. One standout is the diary of South End grocer John Harrat, covering the years 1837 to 1861.

Printed books and ephemera is another important category of our Special Collections. Tom Hardiman keeps an eye out for useful additions from dealers and collectors, as does Dennis Robinson on e-bay and other online sources. This year we added The Gentleman's and Builder's Repository (London 1738) for its importance to both the John Wentworth and Wentworth-Coolidge houses. It joins a number of design source books that Tom and I have continued to add to the rare books collection.

Among the many ads and other ephemera purchased this year, I have a special love for the small trade card for local 19th century inventor and manufacturer David Urch's "Marine Bicycle" and its special West Coast agent in California!

Among many significant additions to our photographic collections that we bought online are new images by early Portsmouth photographers Carl Meinerth, the well-known Davis Brothers, and even many more new post cards of the city and environs.

Of special interest is the historic photograph collection of Clyde Williamson, from his daughter Cindy, including a number of important images not before in our historic photos of the city, as well as images of their building and some business records of Eagle Photo.

James Smith keeps attracting new additions by gift or purchase, like the 26 slides of the Exchange Shopping Center at Pease AFB in 1981; a watercolor portrait and 8 x 10 photo of donor Bruce Ingmire with many of his newspaper columns; additions from Marguerite Mathews and Greg Gathers to our Pontine Movement Theatre collection (MS 116), or the 53 costume designs for Theatre by the Sea that designer Kathie Krause Iannicelli gave us along with photos of 2 plays and a collage for the set design of Othello.

The Special Collections committee thanks the dozens of Athenaeum Proprietors and others who made gifts this past year, and we hope you (and others) will continue to do the same this next year and thereafter. The Portsmouth Athenaeum's collections of papers, photographs, and other documentary sources have made the Athenaeum the major source of research on Portsmouth and its history.

Richard Candee, Chair, Special Collections Committee

Report of the Social Committee 2023

This past year has been a busy year for your Athenaeum Social Committee. In many ways, it's been more exciting than last year.

It was a year of rapid growth in the size of this committee, which is very much appreciated. We started with 10 members as of January 1st and grew to 17 members by November 2023!

Our new members brought new energy and ideas to the group's hard-working core, as well as the physical presence to enhance the efficient management of each scheduled event.

Please join us in welcoming the following new members: Talia Sperduto, Katie Maggio, Andrew Bagley, Janet Bagley, Michael Harvell, Sandra Smith-Wiese, and Mary Beth Herbert.

The committee met 7 times, in 2023, for official meetings, plus the event sub-committees met as needed, unofficially.

With Kathleen Logan as Co-Chair, we have been able to share responsibilities and refresh our approach to those social events we plan. Kathleen initiated a "Template" system for each event, which includes all the necessary details to organize and plan for the Annual Meeting Reception, two New Member Events, The Annual Picnic and The Holiday Party. Talia Sperduto has stepped up to assist with that process.

Each of the two New Member "Teas" were successful, although somewhat under attended by new members. The goal of these Teas is to introduce new members to a group of members with a variety of backgrounds and interests, with the intent of encouraging active interest and participation in the works of the Athenaeum. Our members are the "life-blood" and future of the organization!

The Annual Summer Picnic was held on August 29, 2023, at the Seacoast Science Center, where we tried something new. Due to the Seacoast Science Center being run by the State, all events held there must have a recognized certified Bar Service to serve any alcohol. We met with Mellissa Walls, a recognized certified Bar Tender and owner of Maeve's Cocktail Truck. She volunteered to serve all the beverages bought by the Athenaeum, via her Bar Truck which was set up adjacent to the tent. This was at a considerable savings over the cost of the "Bar Services" in the past. Doug set up a tip jar to provide appropriate gratuity for Mellissa for her time spent with us, that evening. It seems the picnic attendees were very satisfied, as was Mellissa, with this arrangement, and she has agreed to provide her services, again, this summer, 2024.

It should be noted that we had the largest attendance ever at this picnic. The number exceeded 140 members, and the potluck options were plentiful!

The Annual Holiday Party was held on December 8, 2023, and the new Social Committee members exceeded all expectations in their presentation of Hors D'oeuvres! They also showed artistry in decorating the building for the event. The White Apron catered for the event with passed platters of delectable options. The member feedback continues to be much in favor of the White Apron.

FYI, there is a new initiative from the Social Committee. A small subcommittee consisting of Andrew Bagley and Talia Sperduto have launched an informal drop-in social meeting, named the "Franklin Club". It is scheduled for the 1st Wednesday of each month, at 5:30. The name comes from Ben Franklin, who formed similar clubs wherein community members came together to share ideas and "enlighten" each other. This is meant to be very casual, chatting about local goings on and with snacks, beer and wine.

I would like to thank the following members of the Social Committee for their active involvement in making this year's events successful: Doug Aykroyd, Elizabeth Aykroyd, Jan Dinan, Mark Ankarberg, Curt Springer, Cliff Hodgdon, Joan Hammond, Talia Sperduto, Katie Maggio, Andrew Bagley, Janet Bagley, Michael Harvell, Sandra Smith-Wiese, and Mary Beth Herbert, Kathleen Logan, and Tom Hardiman.

Where would the Social Committee be without Wine Stewards? Thank you, Doug Aykroyd, for organizing and providing our events with wine and beverage services!

Special thanks to the following members who served as Wine Stewards: Ed Caylor, Deb Child, Pat Breslin, Frank Breslin, Andrew Bagley, Janet Bagley, Mike Harvell, Mellissa Walls, Curt Springer, Kinley Gregg, Don Margeson, Mark Ankarberg, Jeff Hopper and Doug Aykroyd.
